Support IMMA

Patrons, Benefactors, Supporters and Members

For those interested in helping to raise money to acquire works of contemporary art for Ireland's national collection, there are various levels of philanthropy and support available, beginning at just €30. Being a Patron is a rewarding experience and we would like to invite you to try it for a year. Please contact: members@imma.ie or Christine Blessing on tel: 01 612 9951.

IMMA Limited Edition Prints

A number of leading international artists have created limited edition works-on-paper for the Museum. Each is an original work, hand signed and numbered, and can be purchased by anyone, though priority is given to IMMA members and friends (who also receive a discount). Editions range in price from €100 to €3,500 and include prints by artists such as Franz Ackermann, Dorothy Cross, Michael Craig-Martin, Ilya Kabakov, Miroslaw Balka, Hughie O'Donoghue, Barrie Cooke, Louis le Brocquy, Camille Souter, Elizabeth Peyton, Sean Scully, and Patrick Scott. The exhibition Traces: IMMA Limited Editions is shown in the Blackbird Gallery, Kilkenny from 1 - 28 February.

For more information contact Christine Blessing as above.

IMMA Giving

Donations can include gifts of important works of art or of cash, both of which attract generous tax relief. Overseas patrons can assist through IMMA's International Benefactors Group or, for U.S citizens, through the American Ireland Fund. Legacies or bequests to the Museum are not subject to inheritance tax. For further information please contact Hugo Jellett on tel: 01 612 9901 or email: hugo.jellett@imma.ie.

national programme

The National Programme is designed to make the Museum's Collection, skills and resources available through exhibitions and other projects in a variety of locations around Ireland.

Until 27 Jan | Prospect

Friar's Gate Theatre, Kilmallock, Co Limerick

Prospect features five film-works which survey environments that bring together a range of perspectives – from the natural to the manmade, the intimate to the vast and the familiar to the unknown. Artists featured in the exhibition include Paddy Jolley, Clare Langan, Brian Duggan and Isabel Nolan. This exhibition marks the first occasion that Friar's Gate Theatre and the National Programme have collaborated. As part of the exhibition Irish artist John Beattie facilitated talks and workshops with local primary and secondary school groups. Resulting artworks are exhibited as part of Prospect. The workshops are supported by the Department of Education and Science.

For further information on any aspect of the National Programme, please contact Johanne Mullan, tel: 01 612 9909, email: johanne.mullan@imma.ie

artists' residency programme

IMMA's Artists' Residency Programme provides opportunities for emerging and established artists to research and develop their practice. There are two application deadlines yearly, 31 March and 30 September. Participants get an opportunity to provide access to their ongoing practice through the display of their studio work in The Process Room. Talks and studio visits are organised around the residencies, all of which are free and open to the public. Groups and individuals can arrange to meet artists in their studios, two weeks in advance of your intended visit, as the artists' schedules permit.

The Irish Museum of Modern Art is Ireland's leading national institution for the collection and presentation of modern and contemporary art.

The Museum's mission is to foster within society an awareness, understanding and involvement in the visual arts through policies and programmes which are excellent, innovative and inclusive. The Museum presents a wide variety of art in a dynamic programme of exhibitions, which regularly includes bodies of work from its own Collection and its award-winning Education and Community Department. It also creates more widespread access to art and artists through its Studio and National programmes.

The Museum is housed in the magnificent 17th-century Royal Hospital building, whose grounds include a formal garden, meadow and medieval burial grounds.

Picturing New York: Photographs from The Museum of Modern Art

Picturing New York comprises 145 masterworks from the photographic collection of the Museum of Modern Art in New York, celebrating the architecture and life of that unique city from the 1880s to the present day. The exhibition draws on one of the most important collections of modern and contemporary photography in the world to celebrate the long tradition of photographing New York. Presenting the work of some 90 photographers, including such influential figures as Berenice Abbott, Diane Arbus, Garry Winogrand, Lisette Model, Alfred Stieglitz and Cindy Sherman, the exhibition features both the city and its inhabitants, from its vast, overwhelming architecture to the extraordinary diversity of its people.

Admission charges: €5, concessions €3. Admission free for under-18s, those in full-time education and on organised Museum programmes and IMMA members. Admission free for all on Fridays.

This exhibition is organised by The Museum of Modern Art, New York and is supported by The International Council of The Museum of Modern Art. It is curated by Sarah Meister, Curator, Department of Photography, MoMA.

Sponsored by BNY Mellon.

Media partner The Irish Times.

Anne Tallentire: This, and other things 1999 – 2010

This exhibition by Irish artist Anne Tallentire presents two of her most recent projects Nowhere else, 2010 and The Readers, 2010. Other works – one in collaboration with architect Dominic Stevens, another with artist John Seth – are also included. Tallentire explores how the ordering or disordering of things can signify the cultural and social determinants of daily life. Juxtaposing action, object and image she makes work that uses a range of media such as text, video performance, assemblage, photography and film.

The exhibition is supported by the University of the Arts, London and the British Council.

A fully-illustrated publication accompanies this exhibition.

Jorge Pardo

This is the first major solo exhibition in Ireland by Cuban-American artist Jorge Pardo. A conceptual 'virtual retrospective', it is a worldwide first consisting of between 60 to 100 artworks, installations and projects. All works are presented chronologically in the form of photo-mural wallpaper. Every aspect of the exhibition, including labels and text, are incorporated into the wallpaper, reading like a pictorial history of the development of Pardo's practice.

An online catalogue accompanies the exhibition.

A limited edition by Jorge Pardo is available.

Francis Alÿs: Le Temps du Sommeil

Le Temps du Sommeil is an on-going series of over 100 paintings by the Belgian artist Francis Alÿs, whose personal explorations of cities forms the basis for his work. Working with documentary film and photography, video, painting and performance, he compiles notes and guides which reflect specific social and economic conditions, particularly political subjects such as border disputes and economic crises. A close observer of the quirks of everyday life, Alÿs responds to fleeting and contingent circumstances from the view-point of a passer-by.

A fully-illustrated catalogue accompanies the exhibition.

What happens next is a secret

What happens next is a secret is an experimental exhibition which attempts to address the question of what happens when artworks become part of a collection, and are subsequently shown in many different contexts. The works in the exhibition are changed regularly, with removals generating absences which point to the partially hidden nature of Museum collections, and the relocation or addition of artworks generating new narratives. While there is no single underlying theme linking the works, a number of works employing secrecy or invisibility as a device are shown. The exhibition uses mainly works from the IMMA Collection, but a small number of works are borrowed. There will be a number of temporary responses to the exhibition by invited artists.

A limited edition print by Ilya Kabakov is available.
